MOMMY AND ME AFTERNOON TEA

Can you think of a better time to treat yourself and your precious little prince or princess to something far from the ordinary? Yes, it is high time to treat yourselves to something fun and informative. Calling all prince and princesses alike to be made to feel like young royalty while participating in this coveted tradition.

Transport yourselves to the world of treasured British traditions with Mommy and Me Afternoon Tea.

Tailored to suit the tastes of children aged five to twelve years, there's nothing old or stuffy about this Afternoon Tea. It's designed to honor the tradition but with a modern twist. Heidi Dulebohn will offer a brief history and splice it with exciting elements of why we still enjoy Afternoon Tea worldwide, nearly 200 years later.

While you enjoy curated teas, your prince or princess will enjoy a milkshake or other appropriate beverage. This virtual or in-person event allows dressing up, or not, and introduces your special little one to a refined world of minding manners in a relaxed way.

The little royals can practice minding their new manners, but the event intends to offer a sweet and unique shared experience.

In other words, this is about having fun together and knowing when it's just fine to bend a rule or two for the sake of making memories.

IN THIS AFTERNOON TEA:

- Learn the origins of Afternoon Tea and why it has survived for nearly two centuries worldwide.
- Heidi will break down a traditional British Afternoon Tea; the food, tea, table setting, and expectations, and talk about some modern twists.
- Hear a brief overview of expected table manners geared for the young guests, introduce them to techniques, and how to mind their P's and Q's.
- We'll discuss sitting and eating at the table and put it into practice in an engaging, fun, learning environment, free from any stodginess or judgment.
- Enjoy a beautiful and delicious Afternoon Tea with a beloved child; creating a unique, sweet, and memorable shared experience.
